

Either

'Hereditary Monarchy is undemocratic!'

'Most people in this democracy would apparently vote for it to continue.'

What should a reasonable democrat do with this seeming dilemma?

Or

Does Leicester's success show that something really can be 'greater than the sum of its parts'?

Or

Am I wrong to find the appearance of Daschunds just absurd? Is it possible to be guilty of Daschundism?

Or

How can we really explain the importance of laughter to human beings? Doesn't the grief expressed about the loss of two of our greatest ever great comedians show how important it is; and yet... so baffling and mysterious?

Truth is merely jokes explained.
